

If Jeff Tax Bid Fails, Services May Be Trimmed

By FRANK LAPIERRE

Frank Greenwood, superintendent of the Jefferson Elementary School District, will recommend curtailing certain school services if voters turn down a proposed 50-cent tax increase July 30.

Speaking at the monthly meeting of the Daly City-Colma

Chamber of Commerce Friday, Greenwood said he would ask the district's board of trustees to close down all school cafeterias, libraries and cut back on transportation of children.

"We do not intend to have our teachers leave us because we can't give them proper salaries," Greenwood said.

He said the cost of giving "quality education" had risen sharply in recent years and the easy way out would be to "run a cheap school district."

The tax hike request was the first for the district in ten years. The fact that the Jefferson district is located in a "bedroom community" and has practically no industry supporting the tax base has dictated the need for the increase, according to Greenwood.

As an example of how industry contributes to educational needs of the district, Greenwood pointed out the fact that in Burlingame a dollar tax rate raises $360 per child while in the Jefferson district the same dollar produces only $120 per child.

One of the prime reasons for asking for the tax hike at this time, Greenwood said, is the failure on the part of the state to match educational funds on a 50-50 basis with the district. During 1967-68 the state legislature will provide some 38 per cent of costs at Jefferson.

He emphasized that the tax rate increase would not expand any district programs. "It will allow us to continue our present educational program."

In dollars and cents the average homeowner (of a $25,000 home) will pay another $25 per year.

Asked if the district could sell excess property to obtain operating funds, Greenwood said the district "has no excess land" and pointed out that any monies received from sale of school property would go directly to the state—not to the local school district.

Passage of the increase does not mean the district must use the added funds, Greenwood explained.

"If assessments of properties go up, the trustees will not levy the 50-cent increase," he said. "The district needs about $500,000 to meet its program obligations for the 1968-69 school year."

MORGAN 'PESSIMISTIC'

Jeff High Finance Woes; Hiring Halted

By WILL E. THOMAS

Jefferson High School District Supt. Edward Morgan disclosed to trustees Monday night that he had ordered a halt to all hiring of personnel in the face of a financial crisis that has "put me in the most pessimistic frame of mind since I've been in the district."

Morgan said seven or eight teacher vacancies for the next school term remain unfilled at this time.

In discussing a bleak budgetary deficit that, without a healthy state contribution, could reach well over $100,000, Morgan was blunt in his assessment of the district's position.

"There's no sense in kidding ourselves. We have reached the absolute end of the barrel in relation to finances in this district."

Morgan offered his appraisal of the situation as trustees prepared to approve a "tentative budget" — one of about $8,427,482.

This budget was noted as "in balance," but "knowing full well that it is not in balance," Morgan declared.

He told trustees, based on information he has been able to obtain, that the "news from Sacramento is BAD, period."

In order to obtain the so-called "balance" to date, "many worthwhile things" have had to be chopped from the budget currently being reviewed by school trustees and administrators.

Among them, Morgan pointed out, are funds for instructional, administrative and trustee conferences, a work experience program vocational counselor, pupil clerical salaries, a work experience program secretary, Serramonte library books, replacement of a school bus, a Serramonte custodian-gardener, as well as an administrative aide in the district offices.

"These cuts," Morgan advanced, "are cuts that in the long aspect can hurt."

He also disclosed that the fund to advance Jefferson High School in Daly City to its "laboratory school" status has only $18,000 of a required $34,000 budgeted for planning, implementation and supplies.

There have been additions to go along with the cuts and reductions, however, Morgan said, of about $33,000, plus transfer of $155,000 to a bond fund.

Still not mentioned are district salaries, which administrators explained will make up about 83 per cent of the total budget.

Trustees approved a resolution stating the board's intent to consider salaries after July 1. Increases in salaries upward of 10 per cent have been requested, it was pointed out.

Trustees must have a "publication budget" approved by July 8 and the final budget in August.

Changes are anticipated.

ditions of democratic process." Dr. Sherriffs, whom District Superintendent Edward Morgan explained was a direct appointment by the governor and not affiliated with either the State Department of Education or the State Board of Education, stated:

"As I am sure you know, the matters you described in your letter to Governor Reagan are matters not under state jurisdiction, but rather of local authority."

He noted that he had re-

Water Firm Acquisition Is Opposed

Officials of the North Coast County Water District in Pacifica have gone on record in opposition to Mayor Nick Gust's proposal that the City take over the water system.

In a letter to City Manager C. W. Masonheimer, NCCWD board president Russell Conroy said this week he does not see "how any economies could be effected by a merger (between the water district and the city)."

In fact, such a move "would require raising of water rates, and represent an added burden to homeowners," Conroy's letter states.

Mayor Gust proposed several weeks ago that the city "consider the feasibility of taking over the water system" as a possible means of raising additional revenues.

Gust also implied city ownership and management of the water system "might result in better service."

Conroy's letter states that the proposed move "could create major inequities, since undeveloped land and business properties would not, under those circumstances, be bearing their share of the expenses."

"We question the equity and fairness of this approach in a residential community such as Pacifica," he said.

Conroy suggested that there be a "re-analysis" of the present situation prior to any expenditure of funds for a study which "we think would be an

Educators Looking To Experience

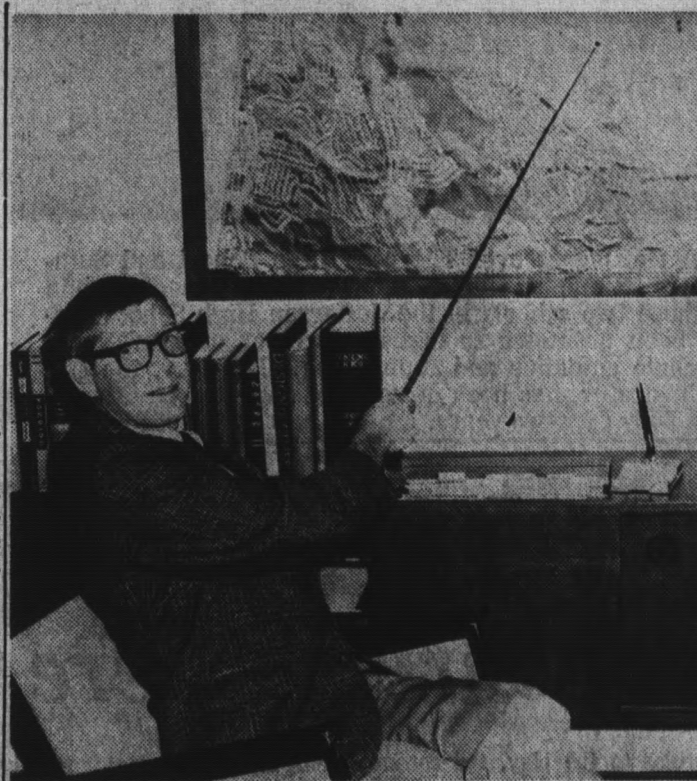

"Work Experience Education is on the threshold of becoming an integral part of the total education program."

This is the opinion of Michael Orlich, the WEEP supervisor in the Jefferson Union High School District, who thinks "employability is the responsibility of the school."

Orlich, assisted in the program by co-ordinator Joe Hubachek, points out that the idea that learning can take place on the job as well as in the classroom "is being recognized more and more by educators."

"Learning is far more meaningful to youth," he says, "if it is a part of the application of that learning in the setting of business and industry."

The Jefferson program includes two types of work experience education: general work experience education and vocational work experience education.

Some Concession By BART in D.C.

Daly City won a minor skirmish in its fight for an underground rapid transit station last week, but failed to win the years-long battle.

The fact that the Bay Area Rapid Transit District made several concessions regarding improvement and relocation of streets around the Knowles Avenue terminus station to handle the expected traffic flow was seen as a score for Daly City.

But the question of putting the system completely underground was left unanswered during the joint Daly City-BART Engineering Committee meeting in San Francisco. BART engineers stuck by their previous proposal to drop the aerial station into a "cut" which runs almost side by side with the Junipero Serra Freeway.

Since their joint meeting in early May, both sides in the dispute have dashed off letters stating demands and counter-demands, with only slight headway being made on final solution of the matter. All target dates for the station were scrapped by BART directors when it became evident the talks would drag.

During the past month alone, at least five letters and one memorandum have been exchanged between the city and BART. The latest correspondence from the city was dated 18 June and listed eight principal provisions required in any proposed agreement with BART.

Appearing at the recent Engineering Committee meeting were Daly City councilmen Michael DeBernardi and Ed Dennis, city manager Ed Frank and assistant city manager (acting planning director) Dave Rowe. DeBernardi said the city would insist on the provisions which included the underground (Please See Page 2, Column 1)

Two Awards For Pageant At Pacifica

The "Miss Pacifica Pageant" won two special awards for production and organization of its program following last weekend's "Miss California Pageant."

Pageant director Stan vander Hule accepted awards at a Sunday luncheon for "best local pageant production in the state" and for the second-best administratively organized local pageant.

The awards were presented by Mrs. Kay Dillon, executive director of the Miss California pageant.

Pacifica, vander Hule pointed out, shared the awards spotlight at the luncheon with the Miss Sacramento Pageant, which placed second in Pacifica in (Please See Page 2, Column 2)

San Bruno Group Asks For Parking Limitations

A petition signed by 31 San Bruno residents requesting parking limitations on the west side of Huntington Avenue was presented to the council Monday night.

The homeowners, residents of the 300, 400, 500 and 600 blocks of Huntington, have requested that the city impose a two-hour parking limit on the west side of the street because of additional "all-day" parking generated by the Southern Pacific Railway Co.'s new policy of charging parking fees at the station parking lot.

A committee consisting of Councilmen Karney Barberian and Nell Christal will meet with Southern Pacific officials Thursday morning to discuss the parking fee policy, and councilmen will await results of that meeting to consider the petitioners' request.

A portion of the Southern Pacific parking lot is owned by the City of San Bruno, and councilmen are attempting to have the area exempt from the parking fees on that basis.

DALY CITY CATV

Injunction Is Asked To Curb Expansion

Daly City has asked the San Mateo Superior Court for an injunction against both the California Cable Communications Corporation and Pacific Telephone Company in a move to halt further expansion of the CATV system in the city.

City Attorney Albert Polonsky filed the declaration of intent on Monday against the companies in an effort to maintain the status quo until the courts can determine the legality of a city resolution which revoked the cable television outfit's franchise two weeks ago.

Following the council's action, CATV Attorney William Ferdon labeled the move "illegal" and in violation of certain PUC codes and further declared any move to oust a franchised company must be reviewed by the State Attorney General's Office.

Ferdon also informed the council that "any infraction of the code might result in misdemeanor charges being lodged against violators."

Polonsky disagreed with the interpretation and the council stood fast.

The latest move would prevent the CATV firm from any work on the system, other than maintaining service to its estimated 350 subscriber homes in the city. Pacific Telephone was named in the writ because their utility poles are used to carry the cable into the homes, Polonsky said.

A determination was expected on the matter on July 2.

New Huddle

On Clubhouse

For Youth

Several members of YIPO — Youth International Progressive Organization — huddled with Daly City officials this week seeking support in their efforts to establish a clubhouse in the city.

But the same problem that blocked efforts of a similar group two years ago again cropped up — lack of a suitable structure within the financial reach of both sides.

The city has two abandoned structures which have been declared unsafe for occupancy and would require extensive rehabilitation, assistant city manager Dave Rowe informed the youth group.

"About how much would it cost to fix up the old fire house on Santa Barbara?" Don Hoskins, head of the group asked.

"In the neighborhood of $14,000," Rowe answered, "and it really isn't worth it."

Mayor Bernard (Bud) Lycett said the problem of finding a suitable building had been (Please See Page 2, Column 6)

Poverty Program Elections Are Set

Elections will be held in Daly City June 29 to select representatives to serve on agency boards responsible for Federal War on Poverty programs in Daly City and in San Mateo County.

One representative will be elected to the County Human Resources Commission, and nine members will be chosen for the Steering Committee of the local Community Action Council.

The Community Action Council will consist of the nine elected representatives, plus six members representing civic, service, and church groups in Daly City.

According to the Rev. Howard Bryant, Information and Referral Center director, in keeping with Office of Economic Opportunity guidelines, the candidates for election must be nominated by 15 persons who are residents of the Target Area, and qualify as low income under one of the following:

—The head of a household and received at least 16 weeks or four months of welfare payments in the past 12 months.

—Head of a household and unemployed at least 10 weeks or four months in the past 12 months and are:

—Currently receiving welfare payments;—Have an income within OEO limits;

—At least 21 years of age, living with parents and employed at least 16 weeks or four months within the past 12 months, and not a full time student.

Nominating petitions may be obtained at the Information and Referral Center, 6634 Mission Street, Daly City.

Deadline for filing petition is Friday at 5 p.m.

Voting will take place at three locations in Daly City between the hours of 10 a.m. and 6 p.m. at the multi-use room of the Colma Intermediate School, Lincoln Park Clubhouse, Action and Brunswick Streets, and at the Information and Referral Center.

Bruno Flood Bids Under Estimates

Early construction of flood control works in San Bruno and at International Airport seemed assured today as project bids came in well under the engineer's estimate.

V. K. Sanders, county flood control engineer, said there is more than enough money on hand or pledged to fund the project. Four construction bids were referred to Sanders for study and recommendation. He said he hoped that construction could get started by August 1 and that the new facilities would be at least partially completed by the rainy season. The project, Sanders said, will take about six months of actual work to complete.

The lowest bid opened by the County Board of Supervisors Tuesday was one of $871,446 submitted by McGuire and Hester of Oakland, beating by only a narrow margin a bid of $872,545 submitted by L. C. Smith Company of San Mateo. Two other bids ranged to $1,029,338. The engineer's estimate of the cost of construction was $960,000.

Sanders said the total cost, including attorney and engineering fees and reserve for contingency, was estimated at $1.2 million. The city of San Bruno granted $67,000 for engineering costs and loaned the Flood Control District another $700,000 to be repaid over a 20-year period. Another $410,000 is to be paid by San Francisco for work to be done at the airport.

Final approval of the San Francisco construction is not expected until July 8, Sanders said. Award of a construction bid will probably be held up until then, he said.

facility with the city having final say in the design, landscaping and lighting provision for an "open end" parking arrangement whereby the original capacity would be about 1,000 cars and later expanded to 1,450 cars as the need arose; improvement of DeLong Street to four moving lanes and two parking lanes between Knowles and St. Charles Avenue; and improvement of DeLong Street to four moving lanes and one parking lane (east side) between St. Charles and the city limit.

Improvement of St. Charles, another stipulation of the agreement, would require widening of the overcrossing on the Jun-pero Serra Freeway—something BART had not yet considered.

Most costly of the improvements, however, was seen as the grade separation asked for on the Knowles Avenue entrance to the station. This would not be constructed until station traffic exceeded 1,500 cars per hour, DeBernardi said.

Engineering Committee Chairman George Silliman (Newark) instructed the BART staff to give the matter a dollars and cents study "with deliberate haste" and report back to the committee within two weeks.

Silliman asked for a meeting between BART and the full council at that time.

BART president James Doherty, a vociferous opponent of the underground Daly City station, bluntly asked "do you people want this station or don't you? Instead of getting easier you're getting tougher."

"Oh, we want it alright," DeBernardi answered.

After listening to BART engineering consultant Roger Hassett outline the present station proposal and surrounding traffic patterns, coupled with his comments that Daly City's requests "were not technically impossible," director Bill Reedy commented: "If they want this station as bad as we want to put it there, we should be able to make some changes."

additional and unnecessary burden to the residents of Pacifica.

Conroy noted that city representatives and water district officials "considered the possibility of the city undertaking the engineering activity in the district" in 1966.

It was noted at that time that the city could not undertake this phase of operations as economically as the district was handling its own engineering, he said.

He also pointed out that the district and the city have worked successfully together in obtaining land for recreation and watershed purposes, and "this couldn't have been done unilaterally."

viewed State Department of Education information on the district's "problems," and had been made aware of various factors which add to their complexity—terrain, the availability of one junior college and three state colleges in competition with the University, at average on reading tests, and so on.

Milton summed it: "I gather Doctor Sherriffs in recommending togetherness."

Widening Job Bid Awarded In San Bruno

A contract for the long-awaited Sneath Lane widening project in San Bruno was awarded to Plombo Construction Co. Monday.

The firm's bid of $238,000 was the lowest of eight entered on the project.

City Clerk Carl Hultberg said work on the project, which involves the stretch of Sneath Lane between Junipero Serra Boulevard and El Camino Real, is expected to begin soon after the contract is signed, probably within 30 days.

'Mr. Budget' Quits Jeff District After Eleven Years Service Here

The Jefferson Union High School District's "Mr. Budget" has retired after 11 years' service.

He is Fred Goodell, a native of San Andreas, Calaveras County, who has been assistant superintendent for business in the Jefferson district.

Goodell attended Stanford University, where he was an outstanding baseball player. He also took graduate work at the College of Pacific, University of Mexico and USC.

He taught school in Sacramento, Amador, Stockton, Solano and Los Angeles counties and has held assistant superintendent positions in Lawndale and Coalinga school districts.

District Supt. Edward Morgan in his monthly bulletin described Goodell as "one of the outstanding authorities in the county in educational finance."

Goodell lives in Greenbrae. Morgan, noting Goodell's retirement, points to what he calls "The Best of Goodell," a September, 1957, speech, also billed as the "Goodell humor at its best." It follows:

A budget is the embodiment of the aspirations and goals of the district. Within it are the means of achieving those goals. That, in short is the classical or textbook definition.

There is another and more commonly accepted view of the budget. It is this:

Budget is a game played in the spring. It begins soon after New Year's Day and ends in June usually, although the game will start up again if a new prize is introduced. The prize arrives from Sacramento or Redwood City and excites all the players to frenzied activity.

They are willing freely to put in long hours of overtime play for possession of the prize.

Budget is an intratribal battle. Games are often called battles in the sports world.

Budget is played with figures. It begins when the Budget Director releases what is called a First Draft. The first draft is made up of income figures and expenditure figures, all of which he calls True Figures, and which are in balance, because a budget must balance.

The committees representing staff like to think of these figures as money, although everyone knows that on a delicate scale one would find it difficult to balance equal amounts of money, even small amounts.

The probability of balancing $7,841,000 of money piled on each side of a scale would be so unlikely that we could call it impossible. But figures do balance nicely, perfectly. A budget is made of figures.

The committees believe that the budget director has not used all true figures, but deviously has scattered through both the income side and the expenditure side false figures, arranging them so that at first glance the whole army of figures, including the reserves, makes a picture resembling truth. And the search for the False figures begins. Although there are no rules to the play, the committees believe that when a false figure is discovered, it belongs to the finder.

Their misconception that a figure is money adds a grim note to the search. There are few things grimmer than money.

The budget director complicates the search as much as possible. Whenever he thinks that the committees are discovering too many false figures, he releases a second draft, with many new figures in new locations, in both the income and expenditure sides. This goes on through many drafts until the game ends in exhaustion, utter confusion, or all committee members have left for Europe, Latin America or the Far East.

The budget game is one of the more exhilarating parts of the job. I will miss it!

Polynesian Dance Class at YWCA

Summer is for vacations and no one knows it better than the San Mateo YWCA. That is why they are offering pro-rate plans for all their classes. Just let them know when you register that you plan to be gone for a certain number of weeks and they will pro-rate the cost of class you want.

Registration is still going on and classes start this week. For those who prefer, many classes will be offering make-up sessions.

Polynesian Dance, Modeling, Drawing, and Social Dance will perhaps enhance this year's vacations. And then there are sports such as golf, tennis, or even yoga. The Y is offering all of these.

For those who want something different to try, there are guitar lessons, Chinese Brush Painting, or even bridge. Also one can learn "to make the right impression on that right person" with Dynamic Speech. Juniors and Teens can take most of these classes, and in addition they are offered Bowling and Ballet.

The YWCA's nursery program is active this summer and is said to be a wonderful place to get the little one out of the house and into some place where "they can have a good time while learning."

For more information, contact the San Mateo YWCA at the Westlake Shopping Center, 375 South Mayfair, Room 217, Daly City.

Campsite Session Is Slated

A workshop for trustees, the administrative staff and the executive board members of teacher organizations of the Jefferson High School District — to be held September 27-29 at the Jones Gulch YMCA Campsite — was approved Monday night.

The proposal came from Rudi Tretten, Jefferson High School assistant principal for guidance, and counseling who last year gained approval of an outdoor weekend student conference.

Tretten's conference was never held.

He said it "became clear to me that I was in fact putting the cart before the horse; that what we needed was a means by which the school system itself could be readied for the kinds of change which impend and which, even now, it is engaged in implementing."

Trustees oked this week a budget for the new outing. It is less than the student conference.

The camp would be directed by Peter Caffentzis of the Esalen Institute who would be brought out from New York for that purpose.

Further explaining his proposal, Tretten declared:

"It is our proposal that the Board of Trustees and the district and school administrators and the leaders of the teacher organizations in this district examine themselves and their roles in the changing organizational patterns in which they are enmeshed;

"That they spend some time together discussing and exploring the change dynamic in this district and how it affects the educational program of the district and the young people we serve;

"That they examine and clear away the underbrush that has grown up around the lines of communication often short circuiting those lines;

"That they prepare the way for all teachers and students within the Jefferson High School District to become similarly involved."

Tretten further noted that many organizations both public and private are devoting increasing amounts of time and energy to finding new approaches to working with people.

"It has been found to be imperative for organizational change that those involved in the change process have a common core of understanding as to the roles they occupy, the directions in which they are going and the dynamics of the situation in which they are involved," Tretten said.

Bruno City Hall Shapes Up

Bruno Completing City Hall Addition

LAST STEP — Floor and ceiling work are nearly all that remain to be done at the $400,000 San Bruno city hall addition, and workmen are busy finishing

San Bruno's $400,000 city hall addition project is about 85 percent completed, and workers presently are installing cabinets and finishing woodwork.

City Mgr. Gerard Vergeer said the job, which is doubling the size of city hall office space, should be finished by August 1.

It should have been completed by January 1, under terms of the contract, but Vergeer explained that weather and "problems with subcontractors" contributed to the delay of several months.

Some flooring and ceiling work remains, he said, in addition to the cabinetwork now in progress.

Though the total cost is to be $400,000, Vergeer pointed out that the city will receive $100,000 from the federal government, because of the inclusion of the Civil Defense Operations Center in the San Bruno construction project.

Police, accounting, waterbilling and city clerk offices are being enlarged in the construction over a four-year period and is noted.

Roy Dusty Blair, 29, of 348 Aforehead lacerations and other injuries. The child, who was on the woman's lap, sustained minor cuts and bruises.

Blair was released from county jail on $1,250 bail and is scheduled to be arraigned at 9 a.m. July 1.

Witnesses told Highway Patrolman K. L. Arnaldi that Blair, manager of a trophy and engraving company, was southbound on El Camino Real at F Street at 8 p.m. when his station wagon swerved to the wrong side of the road and hit a sedan driven by Lalo Olguin, 46-year-old San Francisco auto mechanic.

Witnesses said Blair, who was not injured, started to walk away from the scene but was detained by a man until officers arrived.

Treated at Mary's Help Hospital were Olguin and his passengers, Mrs. Kathy Guerrero, and her baby son, Thomas. Olguin and Mrs. Guerrero suffered

Miss Linda Lee Tucker, 17, has been selected queen for the Broadmoor Fourth of July parade, to be sponsored by the Veterans of Foreign Wars and the Broadmoor Property Owners' Association.

A graduate of Westmoor High School this year, Miss Tucker lives at 551 McArthur Drive, Colma, and plans to attend San Francisco State, majoring in drama and fine arts.

She received her crown from last year's queen, Linda Garcia.

Judges for the event were Ray Savage, Broadmoor chief of police; Marilyn Chittix and Bill Noonan of the Broadmoor Property Owners Association; Robert Burton of VFW Post 9213, Daly City; and Glen Forcum, Garden Village School principal, Colma.

The new queen's attendants will be Miss Rusan Reunick, Petty Guillen and Karen Anderson.

The 2 p.m. — rain or shine — parade, of which A. L. Ickler is chairman, will start at Larchmont Drive, and eighty-seventh Street in Colma, passing the Broadmoor Community Center for judging.

Color guards, marching units,

Another Cap
Fund-Raising
Effort Slated

Another fund-raising project of the Capuchino High Band Boosters Club is manning a peanuts, popcorn and candy booth at the Foster City Fourth of July celebration.

Mrs. Robert Lasher and Mrs. Don Rogers, Ways and Means Chairmen, are in charge of arrangements for the booth and have listed the following members who will work in the booth on the Fourth:

Mr. and Mrs. Lasher, Mr. and Mrs. Rogers, Mrs. Irven Hueton, Mrs. Tadao Hirozawa, Mrs. Robert Bruce, Mrs. Ora Phillips, Mrs. Rick Seim, Mrs. Clement Quon and Mrs. Hazel Barnell. Ferdinand Gebhard has offered the use of a truck to transport goods for the booth.

Band Boosters hope to increase the Band Uniform Fund with monies earned during the summer. The goal of $10,000 has reached the $4300 mark, so everyone is urged to attend the Foster City celebration and visit the Cap Band Boosters booth.

A South San Francisco man was rushed into surgery at Peninsula Hospital Saturday night after receiving an abdominal wound in a mysterious stabbing incident near his home, police reported.

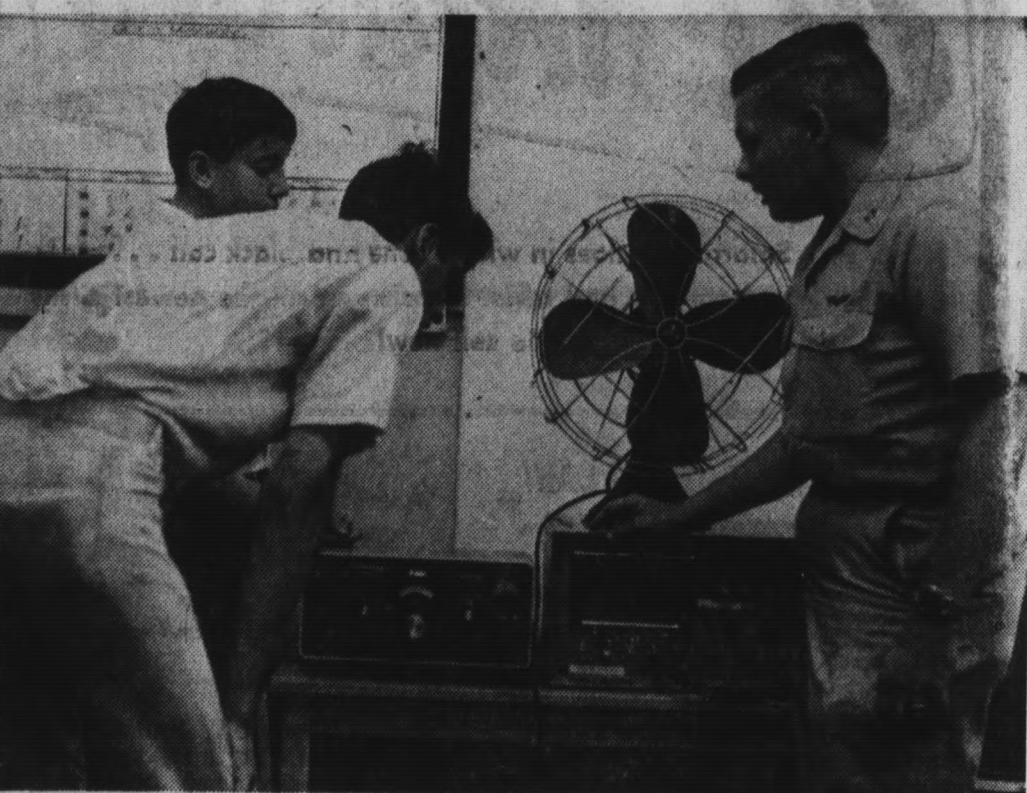

Wenceslo Gutierrez, a 34-year-old construction worker, was reported in "fair" condition today after extensive surgery for a puncture wound in the stomach.

Police said Gutierrez told an officer a man "sprang from the shadows" as he walked down an alley near his residence at 320 Fourth Lane, and attacked him with a knife.

New Form of Supergovernment Is Suggested

By FRANK LAPIERRE

Lee E. Ham, president of Wilsey & Ham, last week proposed establishment of a sweeping new form of regional "super-government" that would take over the responsibilities of the county boards of supervisors for the nine Bay Area counties.

Speaking at a monthly meeting of the Peninsula Manufacturers' Association in South San Francisco, the engineering expert said the development of a "comprehensive urban county" does not eliminate either state or city governments.

"It simply changes some of their responsibilities by having them delegated to the new urban county," Ham said.

The "responsibilities" envisioned by Ham for the new "super-county" agency would include regional planning, assessing and collection of property taxes by city delegations and all housing and building codes, along with several other matters presently being delegated to single purpose regional agencies (such as water and air pollution).

The proposal met with active response from other key speakers at the meeting.

Joseph Bodovitz, executive director of the Bay Area Conservation and Development Commission, hailed the idea as "a tremendously creative idea... and I support it."

Bodovitz preceded Ham in presenting his views on the concepts of regional government in the Bay Area and explained why his special purpose district would not be adverse to inclusion in a regional body.

And while conceding that the comprehensive urban county appeared to be "a logical extension of multi-purpose regional government concepts (ABAG)," Bay Area Council President Stanley McCaffrey predicted it would not be formulated "for a long, long time."

McCaffrey also supported the regional form of government and in his opening remarks to the audience, made up of business leaders from throughout the Peninsula, he said the Bay Area "will lose control over its own destiny if it does not move rapidly to some kind of regional government."

Chaos in the development of regional facilities that are vitally needed will be another consequence of delay, McCaffrey declared. He pointed out that enabling legislation for limited regional government is now being prepared by a special Joint Legislative Committee for the 1969 legislature "and deserves the close attention of all Bay Area citizens."

McCaffrey said the Bay Area Council, which represents business and industry in the nine county Bay Area, has given a long hard look at the matter of regional government "and we have reached the firm conclusion that the establishment of a Bay Area regional organization is essential."

Like Ham's proposal, McCaffrey suggested the representatives of such an organization be elected (Ham has recommended election of at-large representatives based on population figures similar to Assembly delegates with "a strong chief executive" either elected or appointed for a four-year term.)

Opposition to the super government came from J. D. Callaghan, chief administrative officer, Bay Area Air Pollution Control District.

Callaghan said there would have to be certain compromises in forming such a government, but allowed "the whole question of regional government is coming..."

Much of Callaghan's opposition was based on his district directors' decision that any change in the structure could water down the effectiveness of the various agencies.

He ventured that two types of regional government may be necessary, instead of one, and asked if consolidation of the present single purpose agencies under one roof would save payers money.

"Will the service be so there is great just this? ... We should look although it out," Callaghan.

In concluding the matter, area already government compli-

2 Held By D.C. Police

Two San Francisco men were arrested early Friday by Daly City police as suspects in the theft of a 60 horsepower boat motor when a neighbor of the victim called authorities.

Booked into the Daly City jail were Richard Bruce Fosdick, 32, of 554 Campbell Street, and Daniel Todd Maffei, 29, of 243 Naples Street.

Daly City police accused the two men of taking the motor off a boat parked on the street in front of owner Brian Wilby's residence at 563 Niantic Street, at 3:06 a.m.

The neighbor assertedly saw the action and notified police. Patrolman Jim Mendiara intercepted the duo, police said, three or four blocks away.

They were in a pickup truck with camper.

A Trip to Hawaii Won By Norbergs of Colma

The Robert Nordbergs of 744 Larchmont Street, Colma are going Hawaiian!

Robert won Westlake Shopping Center's top prize at the Vacation Show last Friday night.

Key prize is a Berry World Travel, Inc. trip to Hawaii — via World Airlines jetliner — for two.

Nordberg, the father of two children — Debra 11, and Bobby 8, is employed as a brewing supervisor at Burgermeister-Schlitz Brewery, San Francisco.

Second prize, two free trips to The Hotel Flamingo, Las Vegas via TWA, was won by David Valleria of 449 E St., Colma, and Mrs. Georgette Saint Germain, 2144 19th Avenue, San Francisco, claimed third prize of two free trips to Disneyland via Pacific Southwest Airlines.

Forty flight bags — for men and women — were given away through the courtesy of Lufthansa Airlines.

Flight bag winners were Milton Stello, William A. Craig, Joseph J. Lanza, Dale G. Rucker, John Rubino, David Stone, John H. Bates, Dohrman S. Kaiser, P. Curatto, Michael C. Sottile, William B. Jenkins, John E. Pangburn, Barney Greenbaum, Frank W. Sept, Paul McGinley, John H. Burke, James F. Gallagher, Robert A. Brandi, Rollin W. Thompson and Bob Nolan.

Many OLPH Members On Vacation

Many members of Our Lady of Perpetual Help Mothers Club and their families are looking forward to their vacations.

Heading for the Russian River area are the Richard Torres family, the Robert Zaro family and the Fernando Pacheco family.

The Andrew Sioridia family is spending three glorious weeks in Mexico City.

Mrs. Thomas Baldwin and her oldest daughter, Kathy, are on their way to the Philippine Islands by boat and do not expect to return until the middle of August. The rest of the Baldwin family will take a trip to Los Angeles.

For those not planning to leave the area, there will be activities continuing on during the summer months. The sewing group will continue to meet every Tuesday in the Church hall, 60 Wellington Avenue, from 10:30 a.m. to 1:30 p.m. Take your lunch and sewing skills, a spokesman advises.

The monthly whists will continue through the summer the first Tuesday of each month in the school hall, 80 Wellington Avenue, at 1:30 p.m.

Bruno Lions Have Plans

San Bruno Lions Club will have its installation dinner June 29 at the Burlingame Hyatt House at 7 p.m. with a no-host cocktail party and dinner at 8.

The annual picnic will be at Huddart Park in Woodside July 7. There will be no breakfast this year and this year the picnic will start around 11 a.m.

Famed N. County Dueling Site May Be Preserved

An exchange of property rights that would lead to the preservation and enhancement of two famous San Francisco historic sites — the Broderick-Terry duel site and the Rivera Moncada campsite — was proposed to the Board of Supervisors last week by the City's Public Utilities Commission.

The exchange between the City and Doelger building corporation would provide public access through Water Department lands to the dueling site and would facilitate efforts to preserve and develop the Rivera Moncada campsite, according to James K. Carr, General Manager of Public Utilities.

The duel site is located a short distance south of the San Francisco-San Mateo County line, just south of Lake Merced, on San Francisco Golf and Country Club property.

Here U. S. Senator David C. Broderick was mortally wounded in a duel fought with David S. Terry, Chief Justice of the State Supreme Court, during the early morning of September 13, 1859. He died three days later.

Broderick was assertedly challenged after having offended the honor of Judge Terry. There are varying versions of the misunderstanding between the two men.

The campsite, located on what is now Water Department property, marks the headquarters of the third Spanish party dispatched to explore San Francisco Bay.

It was headed by Captain Fernando Rivera y Moncada, who established his camp at a point near the present Lake Merced Boulevard, just north of the County line, at 11:00 a.m., December 4, 1774.

Captain Rivera Moncada named the adjacent body of water Laguna de Nuestra Señora de la Merced — or Lake Merced.

Carr said that San Mateo County Supervisor Jean Fassler had inspired much of the drive to preserve the two historic sites.

Co-operating with the water department and the Doelger Corporation in their development, he said, will be the San Francisco Golf Club, Daly City and the Daly City Chamber of Commerce, and the Native Sons of the Golden West.

The exchange of property interests between the Water Department and the Doelger firm generally involved easement rights, according to Arthur H. Frye, Jr., General Manager-Chief Engineer of the Water Department.

The exchange interests are of about equal value, Frye said, but the City Real Estate Department has recommended that the Doelger firm pay the City $500 to defray administrative and legislative costs.

Another factor in the exchange, Frye said, was the desire of the City's Department of Public Works to effect a new traffic channelization of a roadway intersection.

To comply, Doelger will exchange property rights to the existing roadway and other facilities south of the county line involving the Water Department's Sunset Supply Line.

Fraud Case In Pacifica

Preliminary hearing of welfare fraud charges against Mrs. Jo Anne Gusse, 29, of 1355 Solano Drive, Pacifica, has been scheduled for July 5 in Northern District Municipal Court.

Inspector Jack F. Stuart of the district attorney's office charges that Mrs. Gusse, who was receiving welfare aid for herself and two children, failed to report to the welfare department that she was also receiving $150 a month from the San Francisco welfare department for the care of her grandmother. Because of that, Stuart said, she was overpaid $1,152 in welfare funds.

Vote on Callan Appeal Delayed

South San Francisco councilmen last week postponed a decision on developer Thomas Callan's appeal of a planning commission decision to deny a request for commercial zoning of a three-acre site in Westborough.

Councilmen will consider the appeal at a study session scheduled Monday, according to City Clerk Arthur Rodondi. Planners voted to delay the developer's request to rezone the 3.1-acre parcel at the southwest corner of Callan Boulevard and King Drive May 27.

Callan presented plans for a service station on the site, located in the Westborough Planned Community "PC" district and in an area slated for "medium density" residential development under the city's adopted general plan.

More than seven acres of land in the neighborhood is already reserved for commercial use, according to planners, and the area will require no more business property upon reaching its ultimate population level.

In conclusion, the planning commission resolution denying the zoning change stated developers had not demonstrated that the neighborhood has "a clear and immediate need" for the commercial area.

Capuchino Coed To Sweden

Capuchino High's black-haired beauty, Maxine Papadakis, will spend the summer in the land of the blonds, Sweden!

The San Bruno American Field Service student exchangee, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. George Papadakis of Crystal Springs Road, departed via American Airlines on June 19. She boarded the SS Waterman in New York on June 21 for the journey to Rotterdam and from there to Umea, Sweden.

During the summer, Maxine will be a part of the Sten Lundgren family in Umea. She was selected to be an American Abroad by a community-school represented committee, and later by the New York AFS office.

The exciting news of her summer family reached Maxine last week and preparations for her trip were quickly completed. She will become the "third daughter" in the Lundgren home, sharing with Britta, 17, and Eva Lundgren, 22, in all their activities.

Britta wrote about the family and its warm welcome to their American visitor. Miss Papadakis has visited in Greece on two occasions, but never in the Scandinavian countries, so she has expressed delight in being selected to go to the northern part of the continent.

Herr Lundgren is a store manager and his wife, Nancy Linnea Lundgren, works as a postal clerk. Eva will have her preparatory-school teacher education in another year and wishes to work with young children. Britta is a student.

In their application for an American student, Britta lists the family as very modern, liberal thinking and fun loving with interests in art and literature. They live in an apartment in the outskirts of Umea, a city of 48,000 population located on the coast about 750 kilometers north of Stockholm.

Among their regular summer day's activities, Britta wrote that they watch TV, bicycle, go to the beach and spend many weekends at the family's summerhome. She noted that they have "a little dog named Picco who is nice to everybody." Of the mother, Britta said she was a typical housewife as "she cooks good food and bakes cookies and rolls of white bread." Included in entertainment were many get-togethers for cookies and coffee for which the Scandinavians are famous.

To say that the local co-ed is enthusiastic and delighted to be going to the Lundgren home is an understatement. When reading the application which lists the Lundgrens as happy, humorous, informal, warm and tolerant, Maxine's parents and friends agreed this would be a most appropriate home for an outstanding, happy, well-disciplined girl of Maxine's ilk.

Maxine is especially looking forward to having two "sisters" as she has no American sisters and one brother, Anthony, a student at Parkside School. It is hoped she will share her American Abroad summer with all

ENVOY

As early as the year 97, China sent forth an envoy to try to establish trade with Rome. He never got there. But within two or three decades, a wealthy Roman merchant had organized trading expeditions into central Asia.

through letters to her parents and friends, and as all AFS students, she will be available for talks to local clubs and civic groups upon her return next fall.

Each student representative helps to further the American Field Service program of international exchange. Maxine will strive to be a good representative of her school and community and bring home a better understanding of her host family, its community and country.

Americans Abroad of AFS is a community-sponsored project. Funds are needed to keep this program alive and can be mailed to finance chairman, Bill Hagen, at 548 San Mateo Ave., San Bruno. Mrs. Herb Kaufman is president of the local chapter.

LOUANNE
HEATH'S
DATEBOOK

CONCERN FOR HER COMMUNITY and the welfare of children is one of the things upper-most in the mind of one of Terra Nova School's outstanding graduates, Stella Hayes.

Stella, whose musical gifts have brought happiness to many people, expresses a deep concern for local children, "I am pretty concerned about the inadequate recreational facilities, and for the sick and the poor scattered all over the face of the globe. I belong to Beta Sigma Phi and we do a lot of things for the community and for sick and poor all over the world. What we all need is more money contributed by people who are concerned for the welfare of all children."

A creative person, Stella spent her four years in Terra Nova studying marketing and advertising, display, designing and commercial art.

"I enjoy printing, display work, designing and creating my own designs and styles. For that reason I especially admired Nelda Nocita. I admire her for her patience and her hard work in marketing, her striving to make kids work and to understand the meaning of a job and how important it is to our future," Stella explained.

Stella will apply the lessons Miss Nocita was seeking to instill when she enrolls in the College of San Mateo next fall to continue her work in designing and business.

"I am going to major in furniture and interior designing, display work for department stores and advertising and I'll minor in merchandising or some kind of commercial art work," she said.

THIS OUTSTANDING graduate is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. James Nash of Pacifica and one of a family which includes Juanita Hayes, 16; Georgetta Hayes, 15; Mary Ellen Hayes, 13; Betty Ann Hayes, 9; Helena Nash, 4 and Jim Nash, 17. She was born in San Mateo and attended Sharp Park elementary, Oddstad School and Vallemar School prior to Terra Nova.

Her high school years have been busy ones and she will carry memories of such important events as being elected vice president of the Terra Nova G.A.A., (she also served as the treasurer one term and as manager on another occasion); she will also recall her work as a reporter and publicity officer for the Deca merchandising class, her efforts on behalf of the success of many class dances and school events.

She also did publicity for the Drama Club, Trade Night and several other special activities. Stella was one of a group from Terra Nova which attended the Deca State Convention at San Jose earlier this year. She was a contestant in an advertising Job Interview and she was named vice president and Girl of the Year by her Phi Epsilon Kappa chapter.

Aside from her school activities, she is an ardent drum enthusiast and has played drums for 13 years. During the past months she has played for dances and programs in Pacifica, San Francisco and Sausalito. Currently, she is attempting to organize an all-girl combo.

Upon graduation she was awarded a scholarship by the

Concern For Community

Lilyan Donaldson Memorial Foundation and an award for outstanding service to Terra Nova High School.

Even though she has maintained a busy schedule of activities Stella has found time to consider the youth problems of today and to formulate some opinions on some of the anti-social conduct being reported in such depth in the press.

"THE USE OF DRUGS, draft card burning, rioting and the 'hippie philosophy' are not necessarily related," she said.

"Each one has a variety of possible reasons and results. Each one needs a book or two to explain. Too many young people and adults are looking for oversimplified answers."

To Stella the "generation gap" is not unique to 1968.

"There has always been a difference in 'life styles' between the generations. It is nothing new. Rapid changes in technology make it necessary to make new adjustments," Stella commented.

"To me the 'generation gap' means a conflict in views between the older generations and the new generation. The new generation is rebelling against old ideas. In other words, there is no agreement in the different situations which occur," she explained.

"What we can do about the gap is have more communication between the older generation and the new. It would be a good idea if the newspapers had polls every week on different situations between the generations.

Or, maybe the parents of the community could get together with their children and have debates on why the elders think their views are right and our's are wrong, or visa versa."

Gail Thall Now Mrs. Phillip Pfeifer

St. Robert's Catholic Church in San Bruno was the setting for the recent nuptial mass uniting in marriage Gail Thall, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Bert Thall of San Bruno, and Phillip Pfeiffer, son of Mr. and Mrs. Robert Pfeiffer of that city.

Gail wore a traditional floor length gown of ivory peau de soie appliqued with lace and seed pearls and styled with a self-train which cascaded from the high waistline. She added a matching fingertip veil.

Joanne was the maid of honor, and bridesmaids were Arvada Cherry, her cousin, and Vera Garcia and Karen.

Joanne Thall, her sister's maid of honor, wore a gown of cherry pink chiffon. Cerise chiffon gowns were chosen by the bridesmaids, Linda Bray and Arvada Cherry, Gail's cousins, and Vera Garcia and Karen Hice.

Lori O'Brien, another cousin of the bride, was the flower girl. She was frocked in cherry pink chiffon.

Phil asked his brother, Bob, to be his best man, and guests were seated by Ron Thall, Gail's brother, and Steven Mooney, Steve Kienle, and Ken Biorgi. George Gonsalves, Gail's cousin, was the ring bearer.

The new matron also has a brother, Richard Thall, and is the granddaughter of Mr. and Mrs. Frank Lechner of Boulder Creek and Mrs. Joseph O'Brien of San Francisco. She was graduated from Crestmoor High School.

Phil is the grandson of Mrs. William Helman of Chicago and Mrs. Herman Pfeiffer of Waukegan, Ill. He was graduated from Serra High School and attended the College of San Mateo.

The couple left for a honeymoon in Southern California after a reception at Santo Christo Hall in South San Francisco.

A Sigh, Cry and Tear

Good morning, good cooks.

Today's column starts off with a sigh, a cry and a tear in the eye. Why? Because I have to make some corrections in last week's column. In the Apple Pudding cake the amount of flour called for is 1 1/4 cups, not 1 1/2. And further down in the column the Old-Fashioned Shortbread calls for 2 cups of flour (for the dough) and the 1/2 cup is for handling.

Due to a lack of space the frosting for the Raisin Cake was omitted. Just so you can complete this cake, here is the frosting.

FROSTING FOR RAISIN CAKE

- 1 cup sifted powdered sugar
- 1/4 cube melted butter
- 1/2 teaspoon vanilla
- Milk or cream

Combine the one cup powdered sugar, one-fourth cube melted butter and one-half teaspoon vanilla. Mix well and add enough milk or cream to bring to right spreading consistency.

Enough of the past, let us look forward to the future. What are you going to have for dinner tomorrow night? If any of your responses are as follows: "Who cares?", "Can't stand to think of it?", "Same old thing," read on gentle reader, for I have a casserole that is different and delicious.

SAUSAGE-RICE CASSEROLE

- 2 lbs. link sausage, cut in pieces
- 1 med. onion, chopped
- 2 tablespoons chopped green pepper
- 5 stalks celery, cut small
- 6 cups water
- 2 pkgs. dried chicken noodle soup
- 1/4 cup rice
- 1 large can sliced mushrooms
- 1/4 cup slivered almonds

In a large skillet, brown the two pounds sausage pieces, pour off nearly all the grease, add the one chopped onion, two tablespoons green pepper and the five stalks celery, cut into small pieces. Cook until tender.

Meanwhile bring the six cups water to a boil, add the two packages dried chicken noodle soup, three-fourths cup rice and cook about 15 minutes, or until rice is tender. Combine the browned sausage, cooked vegetables, soup and rice mixture, add the can of sliced mushrooms and mix well. Pour into a large casserole and top with the one-fourth cup almonds which have been sauted in a tablespoon melted butter.

Bake in 350-degree oven, 35 to 45 minutes.

I think a casserole is a wonderful dish. Once you have it mixed and fixed your cooking is done, just stick it in the oven and let nature take its course. Evidently a lot of people think casseroles are grand, for there are many cookbooks dedicated to just this type of cooking. I think I'll follow this good example and use just casseroles recipes in the rest of today's column.

SPAGHETTI BAKE

- 4 large onions, sliced
- 1/2 cup olive oil
- 1 can tomatoes (2 1/2 size)
- 4 green peppers, chopped
- 3 bay leaves
- 3 teaspoon sugar
- 1 teaspoon salt
- 1 cup sliced ripe olives
- 1 cup mushrooms, sliced
- Paprika
- 1 pound dry spaghetti
- 4 tablespoons butter
- 4 tablespoons flour
- 2 cups milk
- Salt and pepper
- 1/2 glass Old English cheese
- 4 tablespoons Parmesan cheese, grated

Simmer the four sliced onions in the one-half cup olive oil until tender. Add the No. 2 1/2 can tomatoes, broken up, the four green peppers, sliced; the three bay leaves, three teaspoons sugar, one teaspoon salt and dash of paprika and simmer for 1 1/2 hours. During the last 10 minutes of cooking time, add the one cup each sliced mushrooms and sliced ripe olives.

In a small saucepan melt the four tablespoons butter, stir in the four tablespoons flour, mixing well. Gradually add the two cups milk, stirring as you add the milk and cook over moderate heat, stirring constantly until it comes to a good boil and thickens. Add salt and pepper to taste and blend in the one-half glass Old English cheese.

While your cheese sauce is cooking you can cook and drain the one pound of spaghetti.

Butter a large baking dish and put in a layer of spaghetti, a layer of tomato sauce and a layer of cheese sauce. Repeat.

Bake uncovered in a 350-degree oven for one hour. DO NOT STIR! During last 15 minutes of baking sprinkle with the four tablespoons Parmesan cheese.

Serves 12.

HAMBURGER CASSEROLE

- 1 8-ounce package noodles
- 1 lb. ground beef
- 1 tablespoon margarine
- 2 cans tomato sauce
- 1 cup cottage cheese
- 8 ounces cream cheese
- 1/2 cup thick sour cream
- One-third cup chopped green onion
- 1 tablespoon green pepper
- 2 tablespoons melted margarine

Cook the noodles according to the directions on the package, drain. Skillet brown the one pound of ground beef in the one tablespoon margarine. Stir in the two cans tomato sauce and remove from heat.

Combine the one cup cottage cheese, 8 ounces cream cheese, one-fourth cup sour cream, one-third cup green onions and one tablespoon chopped green pepper.

In a buttered two-quart casserole, spread half the noodles, cover with cheese mixture, then cover with the remaining noodles. Pour the two tablespoons melted butter over noodles. Pour hamburger sauce mixture on top. Bake 350-degree oven 30 minutes, or until hot.

Serves 6.

QUICK AND EASY OUTLINE OF FURNITURE PERIODS—PART II

In our weekly column last week we mentioned that surveys show that many people would like an outline of periods in furniture history, and we brought you the first part, stopping with Louis XVI. This week we complete this outline for all you who are interested in it.

EMPIRE. This period reflects the attitude of Napoleon and the French revolution. It was plain instead of elaborate. QUEEN ANNE. Main characteristics are the curved cabriole leg and the comfortable cushioned wing chair.

18th CENTURY. This period in England had a great influence on American furniture. It's also known as the Georgian period because several kings named George ruled England during that century.

This period produced some of the greatest designers and cabinet makers in furniture history such as Chippendale, Hepplewhite, and Sheraton, whose works became styles of the period. Thomas Chippendale's works were influenced by French, Gothic and Chinese. George Hepplewhite's designs were delicate, beautiful and artistic. They are recognized by the shield-back chair and by slender, tapered, fluted legs. Thomas Sheraton was a master designer and also became famous for the books he wrote on furniture design. The legs and backs of his chairs are light and graceful.

We hope you enjoyed these two weeks of information on furniture history and we hope some of you might now have a better idea of some of the periods and styles that are often discussed.

S.S.F. Home For Newlyweds

South San Francisco will be the first home of Mr. and Mrs. Michael James Rozzi (Ann Marie Muench) who were married Saturday afternoon at Our Lady of Angels Catholic Church in Burlingame.

Ann is the daughter of Mrs. Lorraine Kleppinger Muench of South San Francisco who hosted the reception at the Peninsula Social Club in San Mateo. Her husband is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Archie Rozzi of Burlingame.

Escorted to the altar by her brother, William A. Muench, Ann wore an Empire, A-line gown of satin with a sleeveless, scooped neck bodice detailed with imported Italian lace. The gown, made by the bride, included a bell-sleeved jacket and long train, and she carried a trailing bouquet of white miniature roses and lilies of the valley.

Linda A. Rozzi was her new sister-in-law's honor attendant, and the bridesmaids were Denise Elliott of Pacifica, Karen Smith of Redwood City, Linda Waterman of Walnut Creek and Carol Muthe of San Jose.

They wore Empire, A-line gowns of orange mist and carried Woburn abbey roses, Zorrina roses and fern.

Barry Carnesecca stood with Michael as best man, and guests were escorted to their seats by David Rozzi and Kenneth Bertini, cousins of the bride, Robert Penna and Robert Bandoni.

Mrs. Muench received guests in a three-piece mocha ribbon knit ensemble with bone accessories. Mrs. Rozzi chose a pale yellow silk ensemble with matching accessories. Both women wore cymbidium orchid corsages.

For traveling to a Lakeport honeymoon site the new matron changed into a brown and gold suit with matching hat and a corsage of phalaenopsis orchids and stephanotis.

Ann is a graduate of South San Francisco High School and a student at Heald's Business College. Her husband is a graduate of Mills High School and a member of the Rod and Gun Club of South San Francisco. He is employed as a data technician.

Reno Cathedral Setting for Rites

St. Thomas Aquinas Cathedral in Reno was the setting for the recent nuptial mass uniting in marriage Fern Lorraine Oliver and Michael Raymond Fox.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Gordon Oliver of South San Francisco; the bridegroom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Michael Raymond Fox who hosted a dinner the evening before the wedding at the Continental Lodge in Reno.

Fern recited her wedding vows in a sleeveless street length dress of white brocade styled along princess lines and topped with a long-sleeved overdress of Chantilly lace.

Mrs. Richard Webb of San Mateo, the matron of honor, wore a hot pink street-length chiffon gown. James Fox was best man.

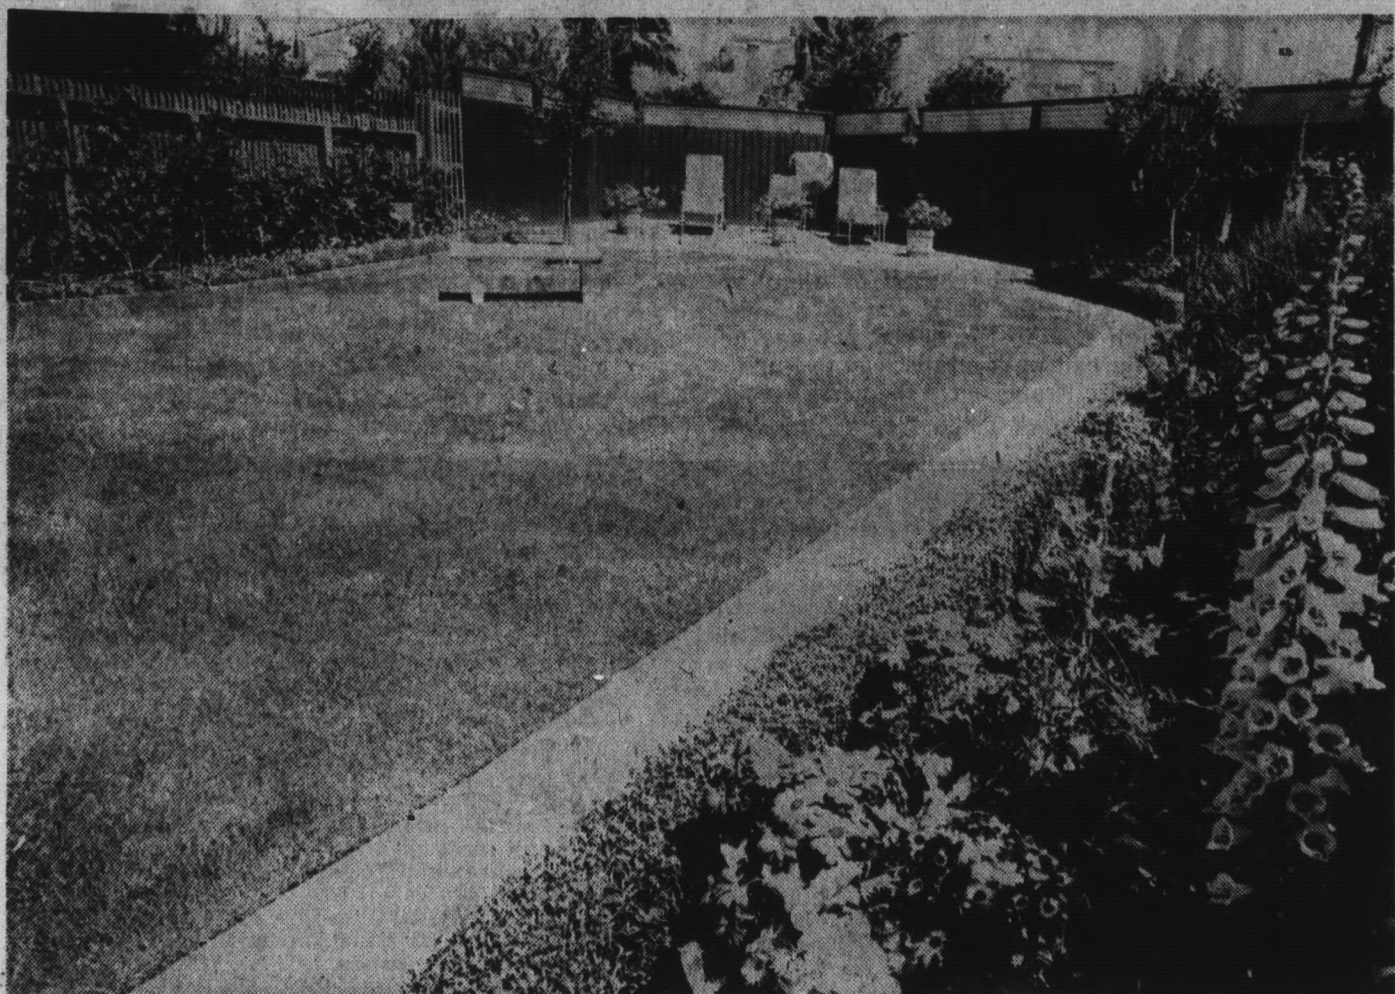

The new matron was graduated from the College of San Mateo Nursing School and is a R.N. at Peninsula Hospital. Thomas Gordon Oliver Jr., is her brother.

Michael was graduated from

Half Moon Bay High School and is in business with his father. He has another brother, Robert Fox of Sacramento.

The couple is living in San Mateo.

D.C. GARDEN OF THE MONTH award has been presented Mr. and Mrs. Edward H. Brown of 118 Fairlawn, in the Westlake sector of Daly City. The Daly City Garden Club's Mrs. Margaret F. McConnell said the public is invited to visit the "spacious and colorful" garden, show above. (Post Photo)

TERRA NOVA TOPICS...

By Alice Reichert

YOUNG PEOPLE of today, as those of every generation, are rebelling. They are speaking out against the "great race" of the classes, and the set of standards which society imposes on them to abide by. They are opposing society in every way they can, and as extremely as they can. To stop and think about it, most would conclude that there is indeed room for improvement. We are a society of imperfect human beings, therefore our society is imperfect. But how much better is the society that the "new way" would provide?

Love, peace and truth are the acclaimed goals of the in generation. In their Utopia, all would be free, to live, and to share their love. If attained, these goals would surely be an improvement to our society; but how honestly are these goals being pursued?

Love seems to be defined through their actions, as only giving away flowers picked from someone else's garden, and sharing their bed, and a filthy overcrowded pad with every runaway that happens to need somewhere to stay for the night. They can no more love a man with a 9 to 5 job than he could them. Love is not a "give me all" deal. Just because you love your fellowman, even if he loves you, that doesn't mean that he should give you a free meal. Neither is love or peace a war with the straight world, or a minority. Loving your fellowman means loving all your fellowmen.

TRUTH IS ALSO an element toward a better society, but the "rebels" see no more truth than the people of the straight world. Looking at themselves honestly, they might see the need to work, and their need for the material things that they deny in words, although not in actions. They are not facing the reality of their responsibilities, or the deficiency in themselves. They blame the failure of the society, because the guilt lies on more than their own shoulders.

I believe that some of them are hiding behind these beliefs, and using them as a defense, because they are afraid of not being able to cope with the responsibilities our society requires.

I believe their only idea of love is the love they want for themselves. Theirs is the cheap kind of love money can buy, not genuine love, which is too much of a bond to their freedom, and too much responsibility.

I resent the fact that I am not considered living truthfully or realistically because I see more in life than loving for myself and living for today. I resent, too, that I am considered to have a closed mind because I live closely to society's "set of rules," and only oppose them sanely, living by my beliefs rather than preaching them. I don't like being considered unfulfilled because I refuse to "turn on" to their truths, to have my mind opened to the "reality" of their philosophy.

I DON'T NEED artificial happiness from their psycho-chemicals. I don't need to hide behind the cries of love and peace to protect myself, because I am willing to accept the responsibility of my share of the work.

I don't think they believe in their philosophy as much as they cling to it. They find it a much easier world to live in. I feel that the straight world is closer to love, peace, and truth than they are. But after all, I'm only a "straight."

RICHARD KNOX, TERESA HOWARD Plan to Wed

Daly City Party Honors A July Bride-Elect

Sharon Kaufman of San Francisco was honored with a bridal shower at the home of her grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. A. L. Rasmussen of Daly City.

Mrs. Robert Meyer of Fresno, aunt of the bride-elect, served as hostess for the party set in a pink and white color scheme. Among the guests were the mothers of the couple and Mary Thornton, Virginia Cleary, Carole Brakovich, Peggy de Amador, Elsie Spoiler and Emily Lyons.

A July 14 wedding is planned.

Dorothy H. Donovan Is Bride-Elect

St. Bruno's Catholic Church in San Bruno will be the setting on August 10 for the marriage of Dorothy Helen Donovan and David Louis Ross, both of San Bruno.

Dorothy, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. William Donovan, attended Crestmoor High School and the College of San Mateo.

She is the granddaughter of Mrs. Alice McAdoo Tassett and the late William H. Tassett and of the late Mr. and Mrs. John M. Donovan.

David is the son of Warren T. Ross of San Bruno and the late Elvera M. Ross and the grandson of the late Mr. and Mrs. John J. May and the late Louis G. Ross and Ann Karlson. He is the brother of Sister Mary Thomasina and Ronald W. Ross.

The future bridegroom attended Serra High School and the College of San Mateo and received his B.A. from San Francisco State College where he is now attending graduate school.

Mrs. Richard Conley of San Jose will be her sister's honor attendant, and bridesmaids will be Mrs. David Agles, Mrs. Kenneth Gibson, Vicki Duckhorn, and Sherry Hasler. Andre Conley of San Jose and Lorie McKay of Daly City will be flower girls.

Randy Flater of Millbrae will stand with David as best man, and guests will be seated by Ray Sprung of San Francisco, Paul Shimen of Burlingame, Tom Shimen of San Bruno, and William D. Donovan of San Bruno, brother of the bride.

Sean Conley of San Jose and George Hasler of San Raphael will be the ring bearers.

DC's Place in the Sand

Thornton Beach State Park is Daly City's "place in the sand," a scenic spot for surfing, sunbathing, picnicking and sand-play, for both adult and child.

Situated west of Highway 1, west of Alemany Boulevard in Daly City, the park sits on a bluff overlooking a beach that to the naked eye has no end. At low tide, you can walk all the way to Pacifica to the south and San Francisco to the north. It is said that the park is part of an original Spanish landgrant, later broken up and sold as farmland. During the Great Depression, potato farmers reportedly barricaded themselves at the site in buildings to withstand seizure of the land for taxes.

The park is open daily from 8 a.m. to sunset, with a fee of 75 cents a car being charged for use of the facilities.

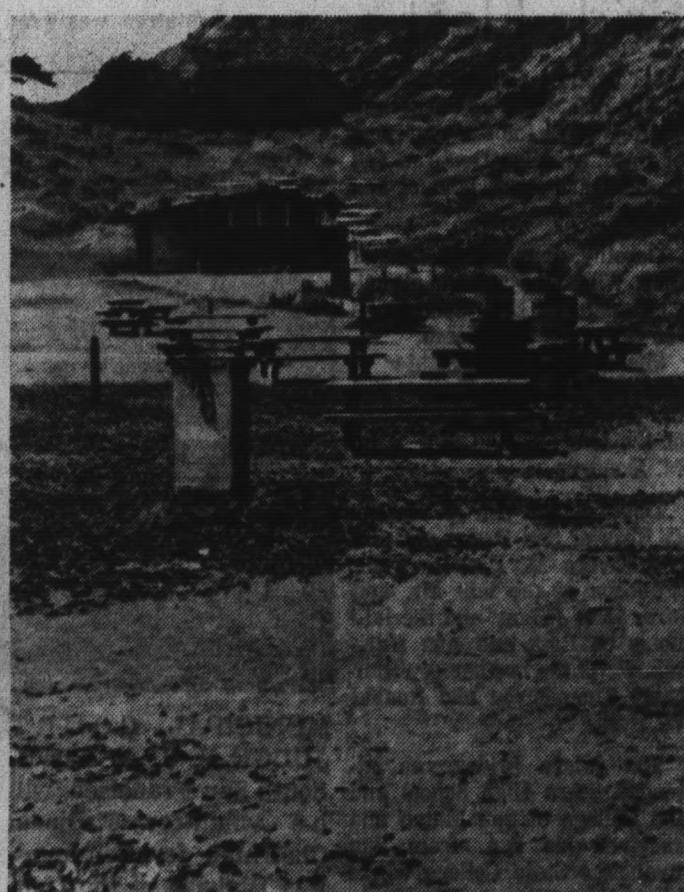

A number of improvements have been completed there by the State Division of Beaches and Parks, which operates the facility.

WILDFLOWERS have burst profusely into bloom at Daly City's Thornton Beach State Park, offering users scenic enjoyment, as well as a wide-range of facilities, most of which were completed in time for the new season. Above, is wildflower view of newly paved parking lot, with beach and Pacific Ocean in the background.

THORNTON'S smooth beach offers "entertainment" for the child who'd prefer to build sand castles, rather than venture into the water to swim, surf — or just splash around like the boys and girls in photo above. Just lying on the beach is another popular past-time.

THERE'S A PLACE at Thornton for the beachgoer who plans to stay awhile and takes his lunch along. Picnic tables for this purpose have been provided, along with restrooms, showers, dressing rooms and water. The facilities are popular with families who want only to picnic (not all use the tables; many choose a comfortable spot on the sand) in an area that offers an expanse of beauty.

Post Photos by Howard Frankhouse

AMONG THE IMPROVEMENTS this year at the park is the new stairway to the beach, leading from the parking lot (left). Other improvements include painting of trees and ground cover throughout the area, regrading of and spreading of bark chips throughout the barbecue area. These items of improvement were among the recommendations to the State by the Daly City Citizens Advisory Committee on parks and schools as a part of the municipality's General Plan.

Bruno Chess Festival July 4

The second annual San Bruno Chess Festival will be held July 4 under the sponsorship of the Chamber of Commerce.

International Chess Master George Koltanowski will be the director of the event again this year, it was learned.

The chess festival is part of the city's big "Independence Day Celebration" and is held each year in City Park.

Chamber sponsors urged all interested citizens to bring their families to the function for a "day of fun and relaxation."

Bands, an orange crate derby, baseball game between the fire and police departments, square dancing, dog show and an evening fireworks display are some of the events scheduled for the day.

Persons desiring to enter the chess tournament for $2 must register before Thursday (June 20). After that date entry fee will be raised to $3, the spokesman said. All checks should be made payable to the San Bruno Chamber.

A preliminary program outline, prepared by the Chamber, lists some eleven different group activities, not counting goofing off or just relaxing under a shade tree.

Starting off the July Fourth event at 10 a.m. will be a military flag raising ceremony in front of the War Memorial Recreation Building with representatives of San Bruno's five local military units participating: the Navy Facilities Base, Coast Guard Radar Station, Air Force Recruiting Office, California Army National Guard, and Marine Corps Reserve.

One of the military units will also provide a gun salute squad for the flag raising ceremony which will be presided over by San Bruno city councilman Maurice Hamilton.

Four programs get underway immediately following the opening ceremony including: motorized cable car rides through the park, sponsored by the Millbrae-San Bruno Kiwanis Club; the chess festival; food concessions operated by the American Legion Post 409 in the baseball grandstand and the Becker Field barbecue area; and supervised park clean-up patrol and information distribution by San Bruno Boy Scout Troop 82.

At 11 a.m. the Millbrae-San Bruno Jaycees will begin their Orange Crate Derby over a 100-yard downhill track between the El Crystal School and the outdoor basketball courts at the east end of the city park.

During the afternoon the Pairs 'N Spares, a large San Bruno square dance club, will stage an exhibition and show in the Recreation Building basketball court.

The San Bruno Dog Training Club will hold an obedience demonstration and show using local talent from their dog training classes. The dog training show will be located at the main baseball diamond.

San Bruno's fire and police departments will play a special five-inning "job-ball" game on the main diamond. Players from each department will demonstrate their sporting skills as a result of their rigorous physical training in their respective departments.

The San Bruno Rotary Club is bringing the Red Garter Dixieland Band to the park for a three-hour concert. The band will move around the park, playing at several locations. Topping off the evening will be the City's annual fireworks display in the large open area adjacent to Junipero Serra and San Bruno Avenues.

New Leaders For Cap Hi Band Named

Turning over the reins of band government is one of the last acts of the Capuchino High School Marching and Concert Band in San Bruno each school year.

Named by the band members as new president beginning with the 1968-69 school year, was Steve Gardner. He will serve with Dave Pearson, vice president, Allan Miller, treasurer; Chris Egeberg, secretary; Carrie Tresser and Mike Matlock, uniform chairman; and Chris Greenleaf, librarian.

Replacing Ken Sly, drum major who graduated this month, will be Curt Lasher, son of Mr. and Mrs. Robert Lasher, Hacienda Drive, Millbrae. He will be a mace drum major, something new for Cap's marching band.

Plans are forming for new majorette outfits and the girls are busy practicing routines during the summer months in preparation for the band's busy fall schedule.

Ralph Bredenberg, music department head, directs the band, and Mrs. Bredenberg instructs the majorettes and banner girls in their duties.

D C Chess Club Meets Tuesdays

Daly City Chess Club members will meet in the Fernando Rivera School Multi-Use Room Tuesday nights beginning June 25.

Two Injured In Accidents On Weekend

Two men were badly injured in automobile accidents in the county this weekend.

A man identified as Thomas Coleman of San Francisco was seriously injured Saturday night when he was struck by a car on Bayshore Freeway in South San Francisco.

Mrs. Jennie Dora Lutz, 50, of 125 Mirada Drive, Daly City, told Highway Patrolman J. E. Rhoades that she was driving about 50 miles an hour in the outside lane when the victim stepped into the traffic lane near the California Street pedestrian overcrossing. Mrs. Lutz swerved but the right side of her car struck Coleman.

The victim was taken to Peninsula Hospital, where he is reported in "serious" condition today.

Reported in "poor" condition is John J. Kelleher, 21, 1787 Hickory Avenue, San Bruno, injured early Saturday when his car crashed into a tree on El Camino Real just north of Adeline Drive, in Burlingame.

Kelleher is said to have suffered severe facial and neck lacerations.

Psychology Group Backs Family Life

The School Psychological Association of San Mateo County has observed the recent controversy centered around the showing of the television series, "Time of Your Life," and, after discussion among the membership, would like to add our endorsement of this series. "It is our belief that these films deal honestly and effectively with the sensitive area of human relationships and make a valuable contribution to a total program of family life education," said Dr. Dale L. Hecht, M.A., licensed psychologist.

"As psychologists, we encounter daily the effects of poor interpersonal communication, human conflict, and misinformation. These same problems are reflected in the larger society in the growing incidence of violence, alienation between races, and personal disaffiliation and isolation. In few places in the schools have we made provision for a specific course of study designed to equip the child with the tools necessary for a creative and fulfilling life with others. We feel strongly that the Family Life Education Program, of which this film series is a part, offers the first systematic and comprehensive vehicle toward reaching this goal, and we would urge its incorporation and use as an integral part of the school curriculum.

118 S.S.F.

Fire Calls

The South San Francisco Fire Department responded to 118 calls, of varied nature, during the month of May, according to a report filed with the city council by Fire Chief John A. Marchi.

Resuscitator-inhalator calls shared top billing with grass fire responses. There were 21 calls in each of those categories, Marchi said.

Also included in the department's activity in May were six "unnecessary" calls, Marchi pointed out.

D.C. Woman Is Injured

Mrs. Edith Mae Degliantoni, 66, of 32 Shakespeare Street, Daly City, was seriously injured Thursday when her car swerved off of Hillside Boulevard in Colma and crashed into a tree.

Highway patrolmen blamed the accident on another driver, who stopped his car in the roadway to pick up a hitchhiker.

A car directly behind the other auto managed to stop in time but Mrs. Degliantoni's sedan skidded out of control.

The driver of the first car, officers said, did not stay to render aid. Witnesses said it was a 1961 Chevrolet station wagon painted green and white with a white stripe down the side.

The victim, who sustained severe chest injuries, was reported in fair condition in the intensive care unit of Mary's Help Hospital.

SSF Kiwanis Fetes Officer

South San Francisco Kiwanis Club has honored Patrolman John Bowes, 28, as the organization's "Policeman of the Month" for June.

Bowes, who works the graveyard shift in a patrol car, told Kiwanians that law enforcement personnel today are not only interested in upholding and enforcing the law, but in preventing crime.

A native of South San Francisco, Bowes has been with the department 16 months and served in the police reserves for 22 months. He and wife Barbara live in Sunshine Gardens with their two children.

S.S.F. Mayor Raps Burglars

South San Francisco Mayor Frank Bertucelli has proclaimed the week of June 23-29 "Burglary Prevention Week."

A Major Drive By Family Life Opponents

The group that originated and circulated the petition that received over 4000 signatures in less than a week's time to stop the San Mateo County Family Life Education Program, has formed an organization called "Citizens for Paternal Rights." The committee's function is to help co-ordinate the "grass roots" opposition to the present sex education course being piloted in the public and parochial schools.

The members set these immediate and specific goals: 1. Stop the Bay Area reshooting of the controversial "Time of Your Life" films on KQED. 2. Block the national syndica-

tion of the "Time of Your Life" series;

3. Continue circulation of the same petition to show the scope of public indignation against this program;

4. Make speakers available to all interested organizations; church, civic and otherwise. The county chairman and head of the speaker's bureau is Michael R. Young, of San Carlos. County secretary is Gordon Vore of Redwood City.

Information and petitions can be obtained from the following city co-ordinators:

Mrs. Laura Williams (Millbrae).

Mrs. R. R. Tomlinson (San Bruno and South San Francisco).

Mrs. L. Wright (South San Francisco and North).

Mr. Robert Sale (Pacifica and Daly City).

The petitions implore the Governor, State Superintendent of Schools, and the State Legislature to uphold the constitutional rights of parents to educate their children in personal and spiritual matters. It also condemns A.B. 424 by Assemblyman Alan Sieroty which would make family life education mandatory in all public elementary and secondary schools.

Citizens for Parental Rights will also affiliate with other active opposition groups throughout California, namely in Sacramento, Marin County, Hayward, Santa Clara County, Santa Cruz, San Luis Obispo, Tulare, Tustin, Fullerton, Los Angeles and Anaheim.

A 'Nervous' Gunman At Coast Market

A nervous bandit held up two clerks at the check-cashing counter of a Pacifica supermarket Friday, then escaped with an undetermined amount of cash only after attempting to walk through a plate glass window.

Joanne Bergez and Donna Jean Lepo, clerks at the Safeway Market in Fairmont Shopping Center, said a man in his mid-thirties appeared at the check window about 2:15 p.m., and ordered them to fill a paper sack with money after pulling a small automatic pistol from his pocket.

They began to fill the sack with staples, then spotted the gun and noticed the man was "very nervous."

The robber forced the clerks to lie upon the floor behind the counter after filling the sack with money, according to police, then he turned and walked into a window, apparently mistaking it for a door.

Several customers were in the store when the robbery took place, police said, but only one, Marjorie Smith, was aware of the holdup in progress.

The suspect was described as

S.S.F. Alien Jailed On Drug Count

An alien residing in South San Francisco was arrested last Thursday for possession of a dangerous weapon after Daly City police officer Jim Barron found a loaded .32-caliber automatic pistol propped up on the dashboard of his car early on Thursday.

Police identified the man as Elias Castellanos, 24, of 10 Elkwood Drive, South San Francisco, a native of Honduras in Central America.

Further information regarding the suspect, who was stopped by Barron as he drove along East Market Street shortly before 2 a.m., was sketchy and police were "checking him out."

Castellanos was charged with being drunk in and about a vehicle and possession of a dangerous weapon, police said.

$472,590 New S.S.F. Permits

Permits for new building totaling $472,590 were issued last month in South San Francisco, Chief Building Inspector Leonard Pittz reported this week.

The suspect was described as five feet eight inches tall, and dressed in khaki clothes.
